ICN Queensland

ICN Queensland is part of Queensland Manufacturing Institute Limited, a not-for-profit organisation contracted by Queensland State Government to provide local content services.

Summary

Industry Capability Network (ICN) helps major projects find potentially suitable local suppliers and service providers (in all industry sectors) in AU and NZ.

ICN is a national network with experienced technical & procurement specialists.

Description

ICN Queensland is part of Queensland Manufacturing Institute Limited, a not-for-profit organisation contracted by Queensland State Government to provide local content services. ICN, in operation since 1987, has offices in each State and Territory in Australia and New Zealand. It serves all industry sectors where major projects operate. The ICN team of specialist staff have a wide range of experience in Engineering, Technology and Procurement.

We have sector specialists in Oil and Gas, Rail, Water, NBN (National Broadband), Health, Clean Technologies who are available to assist industry development in these key areas. Our core services are provided at no charge as our costs are contracted by Government, and we also offer a range of value-adding consulting services on a competitive commercial basis.
